

have you seen my laptop?

Brian David Gilbert and Karen Han
transcriber: bangryak

Alto

Hurdy-Gurdy

Come ga-ther'round and I'll tell you a tale A tale of a night ver-ymuch like the

4

A.

H.G.

one to - night The rain pel-ted cruel-ly the wind-

11

A.

H.G.

- tore my hood as I ran through the wood to my home - stead. When I saw in a clear-ing a fi-gure was stood beck-on-ing— as if I— were a-wait-

17

A.

H.G.

23

A.

A. Rec.

H.G.

- ted "NOW YOU KNOW" said the wi-zard "WHAT PRICE YOU MUST 28

A.

A. Rec.

H.G.

PAY TO GAIN THERE - WARD YOU SEEK YOU MUST TRADE ME A

34

A.

TREA-SURE THAT'S OF COM - MEN-SU-RATE OR GREAT - ER VAL-UE THAN THE

A. Rec.

H.G.

36

A.

SUG-GEST-ED RE - TAIL PRICE OF THIS MY - STI-CAL AN-CIENT AN - TIQUE"

A. Rec.

H.G.

40

A.

So I grant - ed the wiz-ard a book forged in Chrome™ thought it pained me to

A. Rec.

H.G.

BD

46

A.

part andre - gret filled my mind With a flour-ish he van-ished a - long with my

A. Rec.

H.G.

BD

52

A.

tome leav-ing noughtbut this hur-dy be - hind Lea-ving noughtbut this gur-dy be -

A. Rec.

H.G.

BD

59

A.

hind

A. Rec.

H.G.

BD 